Cesar Chavez

Cesar Chavez was born in 1927 in Arizona. He lived on his family's farm. In 1938 they had to move away to California. The only jobs his parents could find were picking fruits and vegetables. The whole family had to work. They worked long hours with no breaks.

When Cesar grew up, he wanted to help the people working in the fields.

In 1962, he helped to create a worker's union.

A union is an organization that helps workers to be treated fairly. The union grew. It convinced the farm owners to make conditions better for all workers. The union still helps workers today.

Cesar Chavez spent his life helping others.
