

Ramadan Reading Comprehension

During the holy month of Ramadan, Muslims around the world observe the practice of fasting from dawn until sunset. This period of fasting is a time for spiritual reflection, increased devotion, and self-discipline. Before the break of dawn, Muslims partake in the pre-dawn meal known as Suhoor to prepare for the day ahead. As the sun sets, families and communities come together to break their fast with the evening meal, known as Iftar. Many mosques host special Taraweeh prayers each night during Ramadan, providing an opportunity for collective worship and reflection on the teachings of the Qur'an.

In addition to fasting and prayer, Ramadan is a time for giving back to those in need. Muslims are encouraged to practice charity through acts of Zakat or Sadaqah, further emphasizing the importance of generosity and compassion. Throughout the month, individuals engage in Dhikr, deepening their spiritual connection through remembrance of Allah.

As Ramadan progresses, anticipation builds for the celebration of Eid al-Fitr, the joyous festival marking the end of the month of fasting. This festive occasion is characterized by prayers, feasting, and the exchange of gifts among family and friends. The final days of Ramadan hold special significance, as Muslims seek out the auspicious Night of Power, or Laylat al-Qadr, believed to be a night of profound spiritual significance.

Some devotees choose to observe I'tikaf, a period of spiritual retreat spent in the mosque during the last ten days of Ramadan. This practice allows individuals to detach from worldly distractions and focus solely on their relationship with Allah.

Throughout Ramadan, the community spirit is palpable as Muslims come together to share in the blessings of the month. Whether through acts of charity, communal prayers at the mosque, or breaking fast with dates, Ramadan serves as a time to strengthen bonds of faith and foster a sense of unity among believers.
