

The Me You Don't See and Where I'm Going

Understanding Self and Others

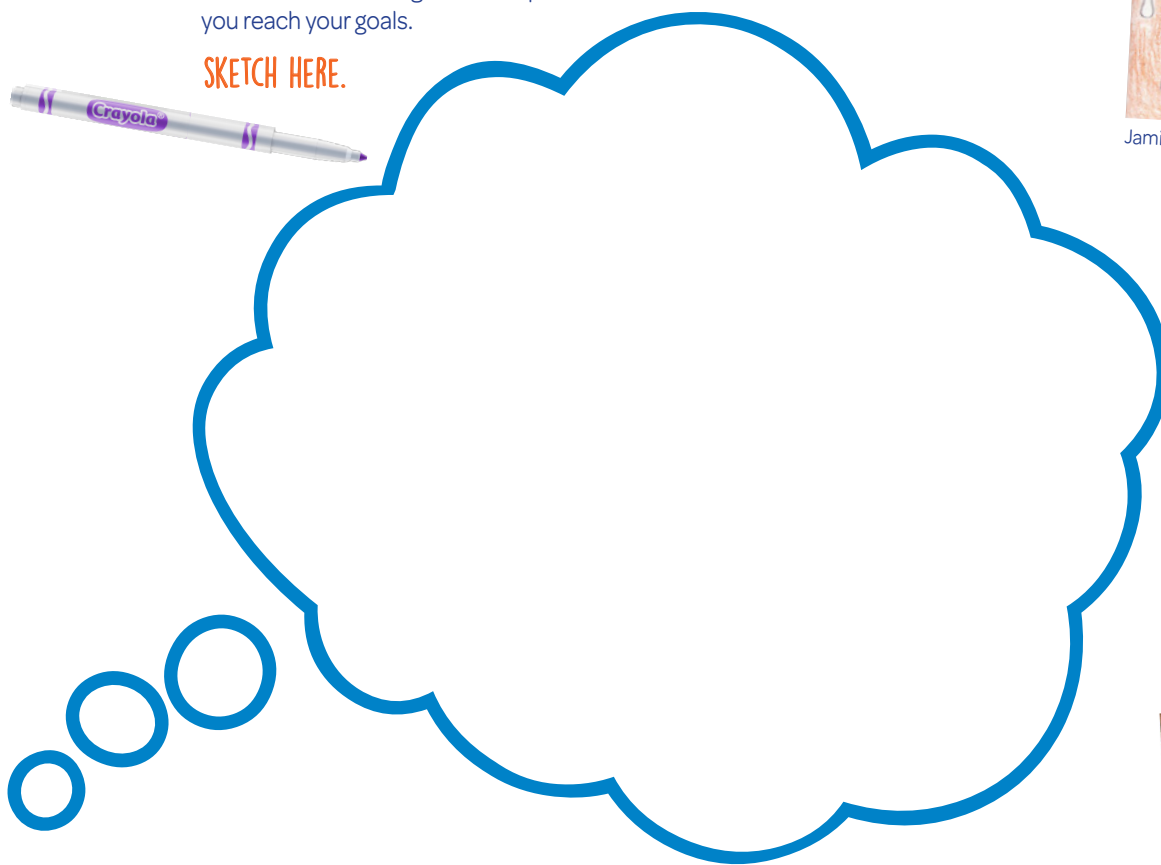

RESPOND to the fact that every person has dreams, plans, or aspirations that are not visible to others. Sometimes we don't even see everything that is within us unless we reflect on our goals and map out a path to get where we want to go.

CREATE a sketch that could remind you of your dreams or draw a map that could serve as a guide to help you reach your goals.

CONNECT your vision for your future with the various types of experiences you will need to have before you achieve your goal. What skills do you need? What subjects should you study? Who are role models that can inspire you to stay focused on your goals?

PRESENT your sketch and share your thoughts on why having a long-term personal vision can help you make more intentional decisions and purposeful choices.
